HUMAN SUBJECTS IN RESEARCH: ETHICAL AND LEGAL ISSUES

As its next offering in the Research Educational Series, the Office of Research will sponsor a seminar on the ethical and legal issues associated with the use of human subjects in research. This seminar will provide the framework for understanding the ethical basis for current federal regulations, as well as addressing institutional policies related to conducting research involving human subjects.

Faculty and students involved with human subjects are encouraged to attend and learn how to navigate the Institutional Review Board review process. Also covered will be an overview of the application submission process, review categories and risk assessment, and informed consent.

The workshop will be help on Friday October 17, 2:00-3:00 in the Byrnes Building, 5th Floor conference Room (513). The session will be lead by Tommy Coggins, Director of the Office of Research Compliance. Please contact Arlene McWhorter (7-7095 or arlenem@gwm.sc.edu) if you plant to attend.

NOTE: Attendance at this seminar will satisfy federal agency (NIH) and institutional training requirements.
